

design addicts platform

home

about us categories

sponsor

submissions scout

Thursday, 11 April 2013 By Richard Misso

"Cool, Calm And Collected"

I cannot decide whether a bachelor, a couple or a family inhabits this apartment and I guess there in lies the beauty of the design. Located on Park Avenue, this project by Darci Hether is a perfect example of an articulated urban dwelling, with clean sophisticated lines, a strong self-assured colour palate and the occasional touch of whimsy.

Sponsors

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

WOODS BAGOT

geyer

morris selvatico

YOUR FAVOURITE
CONTENT IN ONE APP

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

Building upon a grey backdrop, Hether has developed a materials palette that harmonises the different areas of the apartment with dark stained timber flooring, marble tiles, horsehair wallcovering and (my favourite) slate tiles. The furnishings are characterised by handsome upholstered pieces with clean lines and a tendency towards comfort with the fixtures showing Hether's commitment to serious quality, the Lindsay Adelman light above the dining table being foremost among them. In the end, it really doesn't matter who lives here, the point is this apartment is a cool, calm and collected expression of New York City.

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

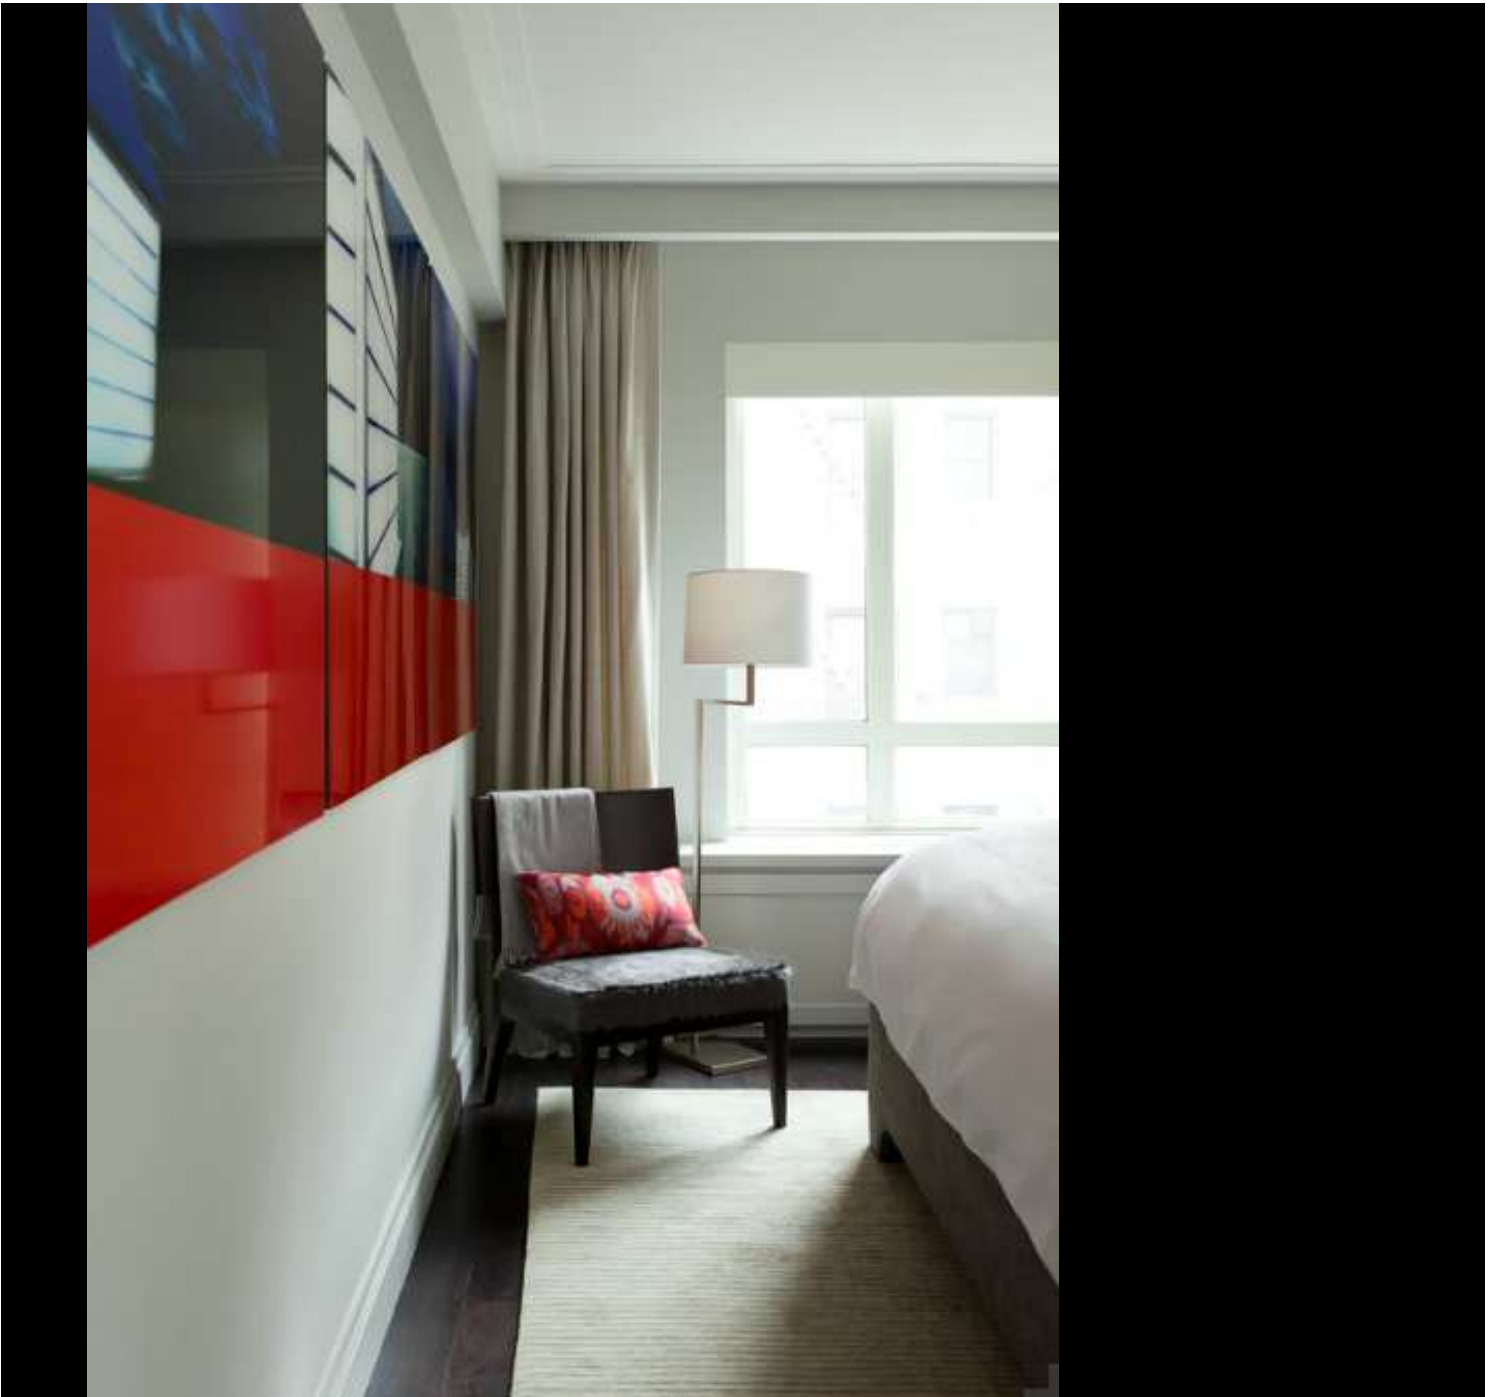

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

Park Avenue residence by Darci Hether

Story by Brendan Guy. To see more by Darci Hether images courtesy of Darci Hether

Related Posts

Romancing the stone ... Sydney Australia

Adapting on the Mornington Peninsula

White Out. A modernist reincarnation

Beauty and Design

No Comments Yet.

Leave a Comment

You must be logged in to post a comment.

Home About US Sponsor Submissions

© design addicts 2013